Make a bunny Easter card to send to a member of your family. You will need 2sheets of paper/card.

One to fold in half and one to draw a semi circle for the head and 2 oval shapes for the ears. You can get your grown up to help you draw and cut out the shapes. Then stick these to the other piece of folded card and draw a face. Cotton wool can be used for the nose. Get your grown up to help you write a message and, if you can write your name or draw a little picture of yourself.

Outdoor Learning (By Ann)

Make a story Stick: - . A memento of a Nature Walk , featuring items collected whilst on a walk or things collected around the garden.

These might include, leaves, twigs, moss, feathers, anything that can be found on the way. Find an interesting stick and wrap some thread or wool around it, tuck your finds into it, to keep them safe. You can also use strips of cardboard, old boxes, food packets, cut into strips. The cardboard is layered with double sided tape, or you could use a glue stick, to stick your finds on. A feather might remind you of a beautiful bird song, a leaf perhaps a tree you had climbed. Have lots of funl.

Numeracy (By Lillian)

You will need some paper or packaging from boxes. Pens and scissors. Get your adult to help you draw some oval shapes. Either 5 or 10. On top of egg shape do dots and at bottom write the numeral. Once all done cut out the ovals and then zig zag cut across the centre. You them have a number puzzle to match the dots and the numbers of each oval.

Painting with flower petals

You will need: paper the thicker the better or cardboard. A few small bowls of water, some petals (you could pick petals from old flowers that you have in your house or collect some Method: place the petals in the water to get them damp and then start experimenting. The harder you rub the petals on the paper the brighter the colours. While pressing a little lighter will have more of a water colour effect, Younger children will probably just enjoy experimenting but could

Be Independent (By Lauren)

Task:- Encourage your child to select their own clothes and dress themselves. The adult can help you with sips and buttons but try yourself first. Accept their choice of clothing even though it may not be yours.:)

Aim :- To encourage independence, boost confidence in their own decision making and bring some normality during these uncertain times.

Extention: Challenge your child to put on their own jacket and shoes when going out. Support them to zip up jacket, strap shoes and put shoes on the correct feet. Encourage them to hang coats up and put shoes away when finished ©
